In our spring 2017 Cougar Foundation newsletter, I poked fun at Arizona's executive branch for their failure to see, value and reward teachers across Arizona for their role in our student's education and more broadly, an educator's role in Arizona's future relevance – at almost any level you choose to make an evaluation. It (Arizona's vision) seems to be a continuing theme of this column, and quite frankly, I would rather highlight activities this Foundation sponsors to improve student and educator experiences instead of how the Foundation will continue to fill, as our resources allow, voids left unfunded or undervalued. But, I still have not seen the courage at the state level to invest in this topic, so, as I suggested in the previous newsletter, our Foundation will continue to focus on our mission: support Sahuaro's students, faculty, alumni and supporting community. We continue to take the perspective that the Foundation will weather any administration (local, state or federal) and we won't be waiting for improvements to materialize; we will be making our own improvements and growing our influence. We are still in this for the long haul.

As suggested in the earlier newsletter, long hauls require patience, planning and funding. To address planning, we now have a budget committee whose fundamental task is to test and align the board's goals with the reality of historical, current and projected fiscal limitations. We often found ourselves reacting to requests and great ideas without adequate tools to balance good intentions with fiscal responsibility. An approved budget will allow various committees and projects to move at a faster pace and with more autonomy. The foundation received a number of generous contributions and the board is evaluating options to save the capital and instead fund from the dividends of these contributions. As more alumni retire, we hope they consider contributions to the Foundation that will broaden this base.

We are also evaluating how to make our single fundraising event (the annual charity golf tournament) more profitable for the Foundation and more enjoyable for the participants. This year's event boasted a significant increase in players (over 100), prizes and sponsors thanks to the hard work of the golf committee. Stay tuned as this committee presents their ideas that will be summarized in the next golf flyer.

Finally, Sahuaro is (and has been) working toward the addition of a press box for the SHS football stadium. This is a project that will be funded by the school and not through district capital improvement. It has been a slow but steady slog for the many who have labored toward this long-range goal. Projected to be less than $100,000, the project is about 1/3 funded. Please see the Foundation's website for details of how to participate in this project.

As always, I look forward to hearing your input. If you know of an alumnus, faculty member or other school associate that is not yet aware of or a member of the Foundation, please encourage them to learn of us via our web page. Invite them to our golf tournament. If you have time or wisdom to contribute, consider a board position. Join us for the long haul.

Finally, and for we old-timers and early graduating class classmates, please steady yourselves; Sahuaro will be celebrating its 50th anniversary. Depending upon how one might count years – when Sahuaro first enrolled students or when students first graduated, the time has come to plan for this milestone. A steering committee is being formed, but we would like to get some feedback on your reaction to this event and how much support the committee might have from alumni. Please contact us with your input and please check the Foundation website to learn more or how to become involved.

A Challenge: Eternalizing the Cougar

By Dr. David Ashcraft

Cougar Foundation & Cougar Hall of Fame Co- Founders

Harry Johnson
(deceased)

Dr. David Ashcraft
Class of 1970

Can you believe it? Sahuaro turns fifty in just twelve months! Fall 2017 marks the beginning of the school's fiftieth year, and this provides a golden opportunity to celebrate.

And, there is a lot to make us proud.

Some of us remember the transformation of the desert as foundations were dug and walls were erected. Innovation was the watchword with the state's first three-level high school library, and one of the first ten-lane tracks. Our "modular" schedule accommodated differentiated learning by extending some class periods to 90-minutes and shortening others to 20 minutes. Sixty-minute conference periods twice a week allowed for one-on-one and small group learning where students were provided extra assistance.

The first graduating class, the Class of 1970, enjoyed being seniors twice...not because 100% of the students were retained, but because as juniors, there was no senior class. The school quickly filled to the brim, boasting some 2400 students. And, for a period of time, several classes from Wrightstown Elementary School shared the campus.

Traditions were being established even before the school opened its doors. The reds and blues (scarlet and navy) of the sunset were chosen as school colors, and the mighty cougar that roams the surrounding desert to this day became the mascot. J.O.E. Cougar was ever present on the athletic fields and courts, rooting our teams onto victory. (How many know that J.O.E. is an acronym for Job of Eternalizing the Cougar?) Speaking of victories, the Sahuaro basketball team won the state championship in its second year of existence. Many remember the trip to the Colosseum in Phoenix in the spring of 1970.

Having built the school without a football field, Friday night home games were staged at high schools that were playing away games. In addition, the band, as well as busloads of Cougars, travelled to Buena High School in Sierra Vista with numbers rivaling the home crowd. To this day, the cheer squad and spirit groups have rallied the school to victory.

The new auditorium (now named after Henry D. Egbert, our founding principal) opened with the beginning of school in Fall 1968 and hosted federal title program performers including Milt Jackson and the Modern Jazz Quartet, and the Paul Horn Flute Ensemble. And, who can forget our own Sahuaro Up-With-People Sing Out, or Scott Carter's Mark Twain show, complete with a lit cigar on stage?

Sahuaro made its mark statewide coming out of the gate. Students in the music program dominated All-State. The theatre program was exemplary, and the three-quarters thrust stage was another innovation. The industrial arts program included a full complement of automotive, metal, wood and photography shops. Our DECCA program was active, and students engaged in work study programs citywide.

Student Council and Homeroom Federation were vital. Delegates from Sahuaro were sent to Boys and Girls State, and Anytown. Student government leaders were invited to "take over" the City of Tucson for a day, shadowing the appointed officials and learning about the community.

Adding up the number of state championships, honors, awards, and academic successes, it is no surprise that Sahuaro remains a school of choice. Founded with a hand-selected cadre of committed and talented faculty and staff, much of that spirit remains today.

Having enjoyed the Sahuaro Silver Celebration twenty-five years ago, who would have predicted how quickly we would arrive at this moment? Sahuaro Alums represent portions of six decades, as well as all walks of life.

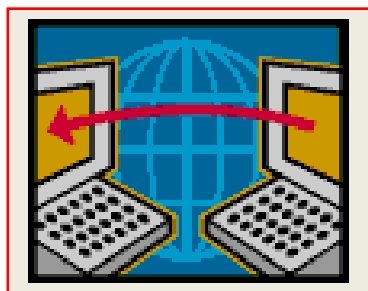

Let's all be challenged to engage in "Eternalizing the Cougar."

Let's continue the celebration!

Fall 2017 Brings Changes to SHS Athletic Director Office: Steve Botkin Takes Top Athletic Department Position

Honoree Sandy Novak,
& Jan Boyd at the AIAA
Hall of Fame induction held 9/16/2017 in Prescott, Az.

Hello Fellow Cougars. My name is Steve Botkin, Sahuaro High School's newest Athletic Director, and I'd like to introduce myself. First, I am a proud 1986 graduate of Sahuaro High School who has been a teacher and the Varsity Girls' Basketball coach since 2000. I am super excited to begin my new job filling the vacancy left by the 2017 retirement of the legendary Sandy Novak as the Athletic/Activities Director (big shoes to fill!). I was honored to be with Sandy and her family last weekend in Prescott, Arizona where she was inducted into the Arizona Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association Hall of Fame. What an honor. Congratulations Sandy for a job well done!

Second, as the new A.D. at Sahuaro, I have been working very hard to raise money to build a much-needed press box for our stadium. To date, we have raised about $25,000 toward the building of the box, but expect that an estimated $60,000 additional funds are needed to complete the project. The Cougar Foundation has created a fundraising link on their website, <http://www.sahuarocougars.org/>, in which you can donate to the project. Your Press Box donation is a charitable gift and, therefore, tax deductible. We would need your help and support to continue to make Sahuaro among the best schools in Tucson.

Be sure to check out this year's sports schedules on Sahuaro's website, <http://sahuarohs.tusd1.schooldesk.net/>, and come for a visit and stay for a game or two. We'll be looking for you. Bring your family and friends and help rock the house.

SHS Fall Sports Are Off to a Great Start

By Steve Botkin, SHS A.D.

The Sahuaro Girls Volleyball teams just placed second in the TUSD volleyball invitational and have started the season very strong.

The SHS Girls and Boys golf teams have started off great as well. The Girls Golf Team is currently ranked in the top 10 in the State.

Sandy Novak

Our 2017 football team just lost a tough battle against Marana on September 8th, but honored fellow Cougar Rick Botkin who died in an automobile accident on Oct. 15, 1977. It was the 39th annual game which makes it the longest memorial game in the United States. Many from the Class of 1978, along with family, attended the ceremony.

Swim has the largest number of participation in years with over 70 athletes and has started the season strong.

Boys and Girls Cross Country have meets each Wednesday during the season, and have terrific athletes who are battling the hot weather but going strong.

Lastly, Sahuaro has over 40 lady Cougars on the SHS Cheer Squad this year, and they are currently preparing for state competitions in October. Always an interesting competition with the Cougars scratching at the door.

Ann Grose: Sahuaro Educator, Leader, Philanthropist

Ann Lynn Grose
April 7, 1948 – March 17, 2017

Ann Lynn Grose, a beloved and respected Sahuaro educator, passed away March 14, 2017 after a short illness. Ann was a Social Studies teacher as well as for many years the SHS Student Council facilitator. Perhaps the one thing that highlights her love of teaching and her students was a video made at one senior prom that captured her laughing and saying, "I love it!", meaning the event and to be among all the exuberant students that evening. But, as was her typical way, she chose not to have an obituary or public service at her death, but rather planned for her love of students to continue through a generous scholarship benefitting Sahuaro Student Council Students. Thank you, Ann Lynn Grose. You are and will be remembered through the many hearts and minds that you touched as well as your generous, loving spirit.

Ann Lynn Grose is one of the Eternal Sahuaro Cougars.

November 4, 2017, Cougar Foundation Hall of Fame Inductees; Annual Honorarium Held at Sahuaro High School

DR. BRYAN FOULK – CLASS OF 1976

Nominated by Donald Rockliffe

Bryan Foulk is a 1976 (Spirit of '76) graduate, was a National Honor Society member, a three-year Letterman on the wrestling team and was an outstanding shop student where he placed in the top five in the State of Arizona Plymouth Automobile Trouble Shooting Team.

Bryan Foulk became the person he was meant to be. His is a generous man with a heart to care. He is one who doesn't look to take -- but to put back good. It would be easy to note Bryan's successful dental practice, but more admirable is his many, many contributions to our community and his efforts to make our city stronger. For over 30 years, Dr. Foulk has donated time, dental skills and financial resources to numerous charities, including over one million dollars in cash and goods. Bryan has served to strengthen our valley by giving time and leadership to various committees, boards, and youth baseball and soccer organizations, including chairman and vice chairman elect of the Metropolitan Water District (second largest water provider in Southern Arizona), Public Policy Chairperson for Davis-Monthan-50 (which seeks to preserve jobs and strengthen the economy of Tucson), Southern Arizona Defense Alliance, Kids in Need Foundation, Youth On their Own (YOTO), and the list goes on.

As a result, Bryan has been named by Tucson Weekly as one of eight Local Heroes of the Year for his volunteerism, YOTO Man of the Year, United States Air Force as Hometown Hero of the Year, and much more.

Bryan continues to be a proud SHS Cougar and proud Tucsonan. At Sahuaro, it has been his non-attention seeking efforts throughout the decades like contributing resources and serving on reunion committees, and opening his home to hosting some of those reunions.

Bryan's heart has been enlarged – some of his traits not so hard to come by: hard work, ethics, and leadership, but most of all a spirit of benevolence born of generosity – a charitable heart! With a service-oriented nature, first instilled by his mother, he looks beyond himself and looks to give back – without looking to get back.

Joey Ingegneri – Class of 1996

Nominated by Judy Goddard

Joey developed from a mischievous little boy into a rebellious youth and then transforming into a compassionate, caring adult. The road has not all been a smooth one, but it has been inspirational.

Football and friends kept him interested in high school. Suffice it to say he was fiercely loyal to his friends and always "had their backs".

Within a year after graduation, he suffered a catastrophic car accident. Although doctors could stabilize him and save his life, it became apparent that there were going to be long-term implications due to his injuries including: possible paralysis below the waist and nerve damage to one or both arms. Not a good prognosis for a young man not yet 20 years old. Yet, this is where Joey began to be an inspiration to those who knew him. With the love and support of his close-knit family, Joey refused to just fold. He got out of the hospital, into a wheelchair and began to determine where he would go next. Joey struggled to redefine how his life would progress. The progression would be slow, incremental as well as painful, but always hopeful. He was determined to be as mobile as possible. Exercise and rehab allowed him to regain the use of his arms to the point that he could play in a wheelchair rugby league. Vehicles were retrofitted so that he could drive with his hands. Jackson Browne concerts and trips to Bourbon Street in New Orleans were once again regular activities. In short, he made every effort to get back to doing the things he did before his accident with no excuses, no complaints.

While Joey's inspiration to keep pushing on probably came mostly from his family in the early years after his accident, it was his marriage to his beautiful wife, Courtney, that pushed him to the accomplishments that qualify him for the Sahuaro Hall of Fame. Finally returning to school after working some years, he graduated with honors from the U of A with Bachelor's and Master's Degrees in the rehabilitation field in 2013.

After a very difficult pregnancy, Joey and Courtney were blessed with the birth of their daughter, Sicily. Sicily was born two months premature and Joey and Courtney spent most of their time nurturing this tiny miracle until she was released from the NICU. As with his own difficult experience, there was never a word about "why us?" – only love and support and perfect faith that "everything will be all right. Sicily is now a healthy, happy 3½-year-old who can now push little boys down with the best of them!

Despite the adversity Joey has faced in his own life, he has found time to give back to the community that he grew up in. He has been an active member of St. Pius X Church. His work with the Ronald McDonald House in Tucson has been phenomenal. He has donated hundreds of hours of time working with this amazing charity. Joey is currently employed by the Jim Click Group. Mr. Click has always been active in the community promoting jobs and opportunities for Tucsonans with disabilities and now Joey successfully oversees those efforts with his own unique perspective.

It is believed that teachers influence students in ways that they will never know. In that sense, Joey is a testament to the faculty of Sahuaro High School in the mid-90s and his success, loyalty and compassion is a tribute to them as well as his parents.

NELLIE CHO WILLCOX – CLASS OF 1996

Nominated by Chuck Adams

Nellie Cho Willcox was an integral component of a wide variety of Sahuaro activities involving both students and faculty/staff members. Always striving to help others and make people feel comfortable, she creates an aura of optimism and exuberance. Her enthusiastic and infectious personality is genuine. Nellie is like the “Ever-Ready Bunny” in that she is always on the go at full speed and never seems to slow down. This is clearly evident when one examines all the roles and activities she was involved in while at Sahuaro. These include three terms as class president followed by student body president for her senior year; and four years of participation on the women’s volleyball squad. She assumed numerous leadership roles, represented Sahuaro at local and state levels as a participant in Girls State and Anytown, received recognition as a Regents Scholar and was a recipient and participant of the Hugh O’Brien Youth Leadership Seminar. Her high energy and up-tempo drive continued at ASU where she served in various capacities such as Devil’s Advocate Vice-President, a Resident Assistant and Orientation Leader. Nellie was also an intern for the American Cancer Society and became a cast member for a Walt Disney World College Program. A Summa Cum Laude graduate of the Barret’s Honor College, Nellie became involved with the Student Alumni Association and then began pursuit of her career ambitions.

Nellie works for Sanofi Pharmaceuticals and represents the company with the highest degree of professionalism. She was responsible for promoting and informing physicians about several pharmaceutical products that were rated in the top ten worldwide. She excels in the company and maintains a very high level of respect, from her physician customers in the cardiovascular and diabetic marketplace.

Maybe the most impressive accomplishment of Nellie’s is her ability to balance a work and home life. She is a military spouse and the mother of three kids. Being a military wife, she has had to move the family and manage everything at times while her husband was away. Through it all, she continues to do everything with a smile and dives right into the next challenge. She is raising her kids to be the next generation of good citizens that get involved with strong character and integrity.
